Dear Peggy,

I'm excited about the work of the Ted Rhodes Foundation to not only secure the legacy of golf legend Ted Rhodes, but also its commitment to open the doors of golf to minorities through its tournaments and programs for young golfers. Credited by golf greats Lee Elder and Tiger Woods, Ted "Rags" Rhodes, with his stylish attire, precision and grace, was an inspiring golfer who drew others to the game and pushed through barriers to help secure opportunities for future African-American golfers. The PGA of America salutes the work of the Foundation and looks forward to its continued accomplishments in the years to come.

Kind Regards,

Wendell J. Haskins
